

This project seeks an investment of $150,000 to establish a large-scale solar energy system in India. The primary goal is to generate clean, renewable energy and reduce reliance on fossil fuels. The project duration is estimated to be 12 months, and its risk profile is considered low. This initiative promotes renewable energy adoption and contributes significantly to environmental sustainability.