

An investment of $120,000 is proposed to establish a community solar farm in a rural area of South Africa. The project aims to provide clean and affordable energy to underserved communities while reducing dependency on non-renewable resources. With a project timeline of 16 months, this low-risk initiative prioritizes social impact alongside environmental goals.