

An investment of $450,000 is sought to develop a cutting-edge offshore wind energy farm off the coast of the United Kingdom. This project aims to produce renewable energy for urban areas while reducing greenhouse gas emissions. With a duration of 28 months, it is classified as medium-risk and aligns with global efforts to combat climate change and promote sustainable energy sources.